Death Note Silence, hailing from Shawinigan (Quebec, Canada) provides a massive wall of sound that is mature lyrically, but retains a touch of teen angst encompassed with energetic riffs, and abrasive gang vocals that engage the audience.

From their humble beginnings in 2015, Pete Lavoie (guitar), Phil Howard (guitar), Ju Dery (bass), Dutch (drums) and Ben Garceau (vocals) have worked their way through the local scene and across Eastern Canada, satiating audiences with their cohesive blend of metalcore and deathcore; as well as releasing two albums, "Code of Silence" (2016) and 2018's Self-Titled.

Performing across Ontario, New Brunswick, and Quebec alongside heavy hitters such as Born of Osiris, Obliterate, Silverstein, Nervosa, Get The Shot, Anonymus, Boundaries and Blindwitness; Death Note Silence are the new up and comers who will be of certain interest to those already fans of Despised Icon, Breakdown of Sanity and Whitechapel as they exhibit just enough similarities to be familiar but enough originality to bring something new and fresh to the world of metalcore and deathcore.

Death Note Silence proved how far they have come since their inception by making it into the Heavy Montreal local band competition final for the 2019 edition of the famed event.
